

ta'ito'atasi, o se väega o polokalame a le New College. E le'i 'iä te a'u se iloa o se tülaga o le'ä o'o 'i ai a'u su'esu'ega, ma'ou te lë iloa fo'i pë fa'amata o le ä sa'u fa'ai'uga.

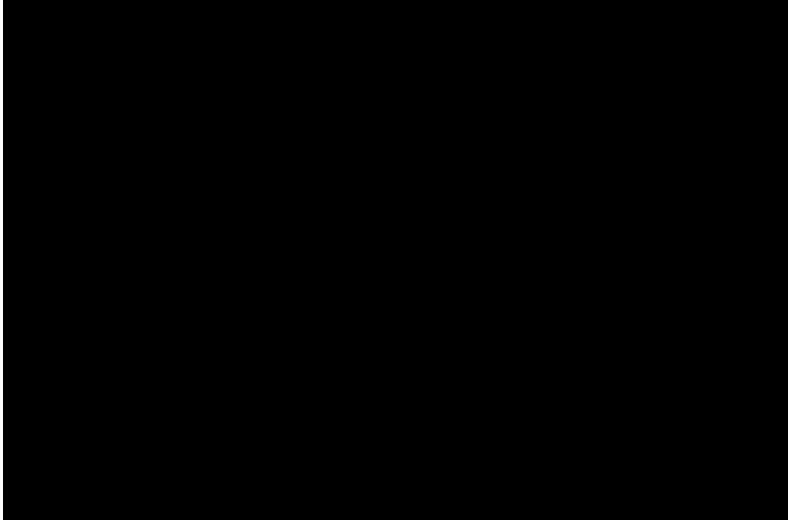

O le fa'atumulia o a'u i o'u lava fa'afitäuli, ma le fa'alëtonu o sa'u fuafuaga mö le taimi lea 'ua feagai ma a'u, sä lë o'o 'iä te a'u se agaga fia talanoa atu 'i se tagata o le päsese, e ui lava 'ina sä 'ou iloaina lava mea 'uma sä tutupu i o'u tafatafa, 'ae maise i tagata Sämöa sä mätou malaga fa'atasi.

Sä 'ou nofo i le nofoa e pito 'i le fa'amalama i le väega e nonofo ai tagata ulaula. O lo'u itütauagavale o lo'o iai toea'i'ina Sämöa. O o'u luma atu o lo'o paepae solo ai isi

'i Utulei 'ae 'avea fale ia ma fale talimälö mö fitafita o le Mälö.

O le va'aiga i le mäketi e fa'amanatu mai ai 'iä te a'u
Asoto'ona'i 'a'o o'u la'ititi, e mä

O tala atu o le malae, 'ou te iloa atu ai le fa'asologa o

"Dixie."

Ina 'ua toe tau maua mai lo'u mälosi, sä toe fa'aauau loa la'u sopo. O le taimi lea, 'ua 'ou savalivali lëmü, se'ia o'o ina

"No. "

Samoaan women and girls. There had been several palagi, their colorful lavalava

although some do have plastic curtains that can be put up. A High Court of American Samoa.

Did I actually remember it, or was it just like some of the hotel saloons pictured in Wild West movies?

Next to it, but set far back from the road, was the huge stuccoed L.M.S. (London Missionary Society) Church of Fagatogo. Opposite on my left, was a deteriorating fale tele (a chief's guest house) which now, as the sign indicated, th

"Look at that new house! Construction was just completed

I even saw a couple of modern hamburger-stand drive-ins which I knew had been opened by Samoans who had lived for years in Hawaii or California and had retired to their continued working when I passed.

The trail along the gently

"Who's at the house?"

"Asi and an old man. You still remember me? I'm Dixie."

nature. I am wholly a part of all nature.

