

WANT TO IMPROVE YOUR STUDENTS' READING COMPREHENSION?
PARTICIPATE IN PACIFIC CHILD
PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT!

Are you interested in improving reading comprehension for your students? Do you want to improve your instructional strategies for teaching reading comprehension? Do you have an increasing population of English language learners? Do you teach 4th or 5th grade in Hawai'i?

If you answered yes to all of these questions, we invite you to participate in meaningful professional development. Pacific Communities with High-performance In Literacy Development (Pacific CHILD) is a professional development model conducted by the Regional Educational Laboratory Pacific (REL-P) focused on reading comprehension in grades 4 and 5. The study will be implemented in Hawai'i in summer 2008.
